of what function of the legislature is finally, and it is overseeing expenditures to see whether the money is going where it is supposed to go and whether the payments are verified before the money is received. If that is a part of state aid, then the payments ought to be verified before they are paid out. Now, that probably isn't true in every area of state aid, but it is in some. I'll try to get you the answers to some of the transportation questions. I don't have them right at hand now.

SENATOR BARNETT: I think that has been a very serious allegation that was made this morning, and Senator Lewis and his staff or you and your staff, I wish that somebody who made allegations like this could come up with the proof. I think that they owe it to every member on this floor to bring forth who has been doing this to the budget in the area of transportation when money has been so hard to get.

PRESIDENT: Two minutes Senator.

SENATOR BARNETT: I'm sorry Senator Dworak that I took up so much, but I think that those points are....I would like to yield the balance of my time to Senator Dworak.

PRESIDENT: You have a minute and fifty seconds.

SENATOR DWORAK: I have got the definition of educible mentally handicapped, and it shall mean: Children of school age, who because of retarded intellectual development as determined by individuals psychological examination and deficiencies and social adjustment require additional supportive services in order to function profitably within the regular educational programming. I think that this... I think that we are hitting the problem just right where it exists. These...to classify, these different conditions, of what special education is is becoming so difficult where we give transportation services to some and take them away from others that...and the answer as far as I see 761 is to just give it to all. Now, maybe we have created a situation that is impossible for the Department of Education to administer, that is impossible for schools to handle, for a superintendent to tell one parent why he is qualified or why he isn't qualified. But, the direction that we are taking under LB761, and I think that it is an honest effort, and I think that it is a positive attempt, but it is just more or less opening up transportation to everybody in the special education field. Now, maybe that is the solution to the problem, but the solution is going to be expensive. I think that is what Senator Marvel is pointing out. This isn't tightening anything down, it is opening it up. I will grant this, that it is certainly going to avoid, it is certainly going to stop....

PRESIDENT: Your time is up.

SENATOR DWORAK: A lot of confusion in these areas.

PRESIDENT: Your motion is to move the bill Senator?
